AUSTRALIAN SOLDIER

WRITES INTERESTING LETTER FROM FRANCE TO COUSIN IN GLENDALE

An interesting letter from his cousin in France has been received by A. D. Fowler of the Sanitarium. The following is an extract:

"France, 11 Aug., 1917

"No doubt you received my last letter telling of the trip from Australia. We took over three months on the way, coming via Cape Town. Stopped a month at Sierra Leona; had several 'tin fish' scares as we neared England, but were not attacked.

"After many months additional training at Salisbury Plains, I left England five weeks ago. Received a bundle of newspapers on the night we left. They were very interesting, but don't send any more as it is very rarely that papers are delivered in France.

"I am transferred into the 55th Australian Siege Battery, R. R. A., British Expeditionary Force, France. That is my address, but care Commercial Bank of Australia, London Branch, will always find me whereever I'm situated.

"Our guns are big ones, being 9½ inch. I was three weeks at the front and saw some heavy bombardments. A week ago I went to hospital as the guns sent me deaf. I'm now all right, and at the base ready to go back in a few days time.

"While in hospital I was in British No. 10. On one side was an American, and other Australian No. 1.

"Our work at the battery is very heavy, at times quite the hardest I've ever done. (He is six two and been used to hard farm work all his life. The minimum height for Australian artillerymen is 5 ft. seven). But of course we have slack times as well. We were about two miles from Fritz so not in a very hot 'possey' (Australian soldiers' slang for position).

"I don't mind the work as it keeps me fit and I never felt better in my life than at present. We get plenty of excellent food, and make ourselves as comfortable as circumstances will allow, in dugouts.

"It's quite different to what I expected. We have canteens and can walk about and visit Y. M. C. A.'s, etc. Have to get leave to go to villages within ten miles and dress as we like and no one to worry you about cleaning boots, etc. In fact, though I live for mail days and the day when the war will stop, I much prefer over here to being driven mad in a training camp in some desolate part of England.

"There is no doubt we have a long way better job than the Infantry boys. I'll always take off my hat to them.

"I've not received much mail from home lately, as three Australian ships have been sunk. Jim wrote in May, the first letter that has found me for five months, except yours. All are well.

"Thanks for the snapshots enclosed. Send more. Your kiddie is growing. The snaps of your garden show things grow over there in the warm weather."

Yours,
T. W. F.

CLIMAX OF ROMANCE

It has just leaked out that the climax to a pretty romance took place at the residence of Rev. B. Dudley Sundden of the First Methodist church on Tuesday Sept. 11th. On that day at 1 o'clock p. m., Mr. Walter W. Wolcott and Miss Estelle C. Eckersley were united in matrimony. The wedding was a quiet affair.

The romance began some time ago in the neighborhood of Anaheim, where Mr. Wolcott owned an orange grove. Miss Eckersley came from Nebraska to visit relatives and while there met the young rancher. Their courtship only intensified her love for California.

A short time ago Mr. Wolcott sold his orange grove and bought some acreage in north Glendale on Kenneth Road. He will improve this property and here the young couple will make their home.

SURPRISE MRS. THOMPSON

Mrs. C. H. Thompson of 1448 Milford street, was most pleasantly surprised on Tuesday afternoon by friends and neighbors, the occasion being her birthday anniversary.

STATE NEWS

2576 YOUNG CALIFORNIA MEN ENTRAIN FOR CAMP LEWIS TO-DAY

SAN FRANCISCO, September 19.—Uncle Sam took his second big step in the mobilization of the National army to-day. In California 2576 young men—drafted for service under the banner of democracy—entrained for American Lake, Washington, there to become soldiers. They represented 40 per cent. of the quotas of their home counties. Six days will be necessary to complete California's troops movements, selected contingents leaving for the cantonment each day. The boys who started on the first leg of their journey to Europe's battlefields will find everything in readiness for them when they reach their cantonment. The men who left earlier in the month have formed the nucleus of the provisional companies for the camp organization. The cantonment barracks are complete, the officers are ready, the training schools organized, the program of drill and instruction already is being carried out and—last but far from least—the commissary is well stocked. The men who left to-day will fit into the organization and in a few days' time they will be a part of the great force of democracy. The 2576 men who entrained to-day came from the following counties: San Diego, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange, Riverside, Kern, Tulare, San Mateo, San Joaquin, Tuolumne, El Dorado, Marin, Sonoma, Napa, Solano and from Oakland.

HANFORD, Cal., Sept. 19.—The most approved means of curbing anything from a fractious horse to a cholera germ is being discussed here to-day at the quarterly meeting of the California State Veterinary Association. The meeting opened with a clinic during which technical subjects were discussed and demonstrated, while in the afternoon the business session with the nomination of officers was of chief importance. In the evening the Kings County Chamber of Commerce will be host at a banquet. The meeting is being attended by veterinarians from all parts of the state.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 19.—Miss Alice Fisher, 25, assistant to her father as identification expert of the Sacramento police department, visited the state fair Saturday. She saw lots of things, including three pickpockets at work, all of whom she reported to her father, who promptly arrested them.

FAREWELL TO OWEN EMERY

There gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnston, 335 Everett street, on Tuesday, the members of four families, closely related, who met to honor and say farewell to one of their number who has answered the call to the colors.

Owen C. Emery, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery, who leaves Thursday morning for Camp Lewis, American Lake, Washington, is one of our own boys, having spent his boyhood here, a graduate of our schools, and leaves with the heartfelt good wishes of all.

The evening was one long to be remembered as the members of the families spent the time in the usual informal manner that attended their former reunions. Good music, especially a duet by Dr. and Mrs. Bryant, singularly appropriate, so they thought, entitled "No One to Love," proved mirth exciting.

Those present were the honored guest, Owen C. Emery, Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery, the Misses Waunita, Josephine and Olive Bell Emery, Gilbert Emery, Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Bryant, Dean, Hugh and Albert Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Ferguson and Esther, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnston, Mrs. Hattie Johnston and James Johnston, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

20TH ANNIVERSARY

Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Mottern, 1109 West Fifth street, will celebrate, informally, their twentieth wedding anniversary Friday evening, September 21st, from 7 to 10 o'clock at their home. They will be glad to have their many friends enjoy the evening with them. No formal invitations have been issued. A fine musical program and readings will be given.

TWO AMERICAN STEAMERS, BRITISH DESTROYER AND TWO GERMAN SUBMARINES FIGURE IN FIGHT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, September 19.—An American armed merchant ship probably sank a German submarine in a spirited fight southeast of the Shetland islands, according to a Central news dispatch received to-day. The American steamer encountered a submarine engaged in sinking another merchantman at a point off the Shetland Islands. The steamer opened fire and smashed the periscope of the U-boat. Another submarine appeared and fired two torpedoes. Both missed. A British destroyer attracted by the noise of the gunfire and wireless signals responded, arriving in time to sink the second submarine. Six members of the German crew were rescued.

ACTIVITY IN RENTALS

MR. PEARSON LEASES HOME TO POPULAR LITTLE FILM STAR

Real estate men in Glendale report that rentals are very good just now. In fact the demand for houses is greater than can be supplied. There is a steady influx of new people seeking homes here, as a result of the natural advantages of the city and the publicity that has been given it.

Activity at the Kalem studio recently purchased by the Pathe Film company is causing a demand for homes here by members of several companies who will operate there. J. W. Pearson reports the rental of a house on Riverdale drive to L. T. Osborn, who is now the owner of the Verdugo road studio. Mr. Osborn is the father of Baby Marie Osborne, the little favorite known as Little Mary Sunshine. Glendale welcomes this famous little star.

Mr. Pearson also rented a home the past week to H. R. Darling of the Darling Flower shop in Los Angeles. Mr. Darling will reside on Ivy street. Mr. Hebleck, who is here to superintend the erection of the new Sunset Telephone building, has also been nicely located in Glendale the past week through Mr. Pearson's agency.

GLEN EYRE FOREGOES BANQUET

Though it is sometimes difficult for us to realize that our nation is at war since we are so far removed from the scene of the actual fighting, yet the spirit of war typified by sacrifice in many ways is with us to such an extent that we can not forget for long that the war is a reality. This spirit of sacrifice is one of the compensating features of the war. The need of sacrifice brings out the best of us and everywhere individuals and organizations are doing what they can to aid in this struggle for democracy and humanity.

True to this spirit Glen Eyrie Chapter has given up the annual banquet for this year. The banquet is a time honored institution in Glen Eyrie and looked forward to by the members and those eligible to attend as one of the most brilliant social affairs of the year. At the last meeting of the Chapter it was voted to forego the pleasures of this much anticipated affair as out of keeping with the spirit of the times and devote the time and money usually expended for the banquet to the work of the Red Cross.

Accordingly Glen Eyrie is expecting the co-operation of not only the members of the chapter, but of the public in general in making a financial success of the card party that has been planned for September 27. Mrs. A. M. Beamon, Worthy Matron, has appointed a committee headed by Mrs. Warren Roberts, to have charge of the benefit and nothing is being omitted to make the evening a pleasant one for all concerned.

DR. ROCHESTER GOES TO FORT RILEY

Dr. A. S. Rochester, who had been appointed First Lieutenant of the Medical Reserve Corps, left Wednesday of this week for Camp Funston, Fort Riley, Kansas, where he enters the service of the United States war department. Dr. Rochester had been a practicing physician in Chicago and came to Glendale a few months ago to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Rochester, who have resided here for three years. This young physician was for three years in the service of the United States, being stationed at the Philippine Islands.

RODEHEAVER IN GLENDALE

The joint prayer meeting of the co-operating churches of Glendale and Tropico, held at the First Baptist church, Wednesday morning, was led by the biggest man in the Sunday campaign, next to Billy Sunday himself. Mr. Rodeheaver, or "Rodey," as he is affectionately called by his friends, is the man who leads the big choirs at the Sunday Tabernacle and no doubt contributes as much to the success of the campaign as Mr. Sunday.

The people were fortunate to have Mr. Rodeheaver with them and hear a message which aroused the enthusiasm of all present. The prayer service following was very impressive, prayer being asked and offered in special cases. There was a large attendance, the church being well filled. The resident pastors of Glendale and Tropico occupied places on the platform.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Thursday. Westerly winds.

T. A. CLUB OPENING

MRS. RAMSAY AND HER SECTION CHAIRMEN PLAN WORK FOR COMING YEAR

Keeping ever in mind the object and purposes of the club, "advancement in all lines of general culture and promotion of the general welfare of the community," the chairmen of the various sections and committees have been at work for weeks past planning and preparing, under the supervision of their very efficient president, Mrs. William Ramsay, for the duties of their respective offices. Now all is in readiness for the opening meeting, October 9th.

The members of the program committee, comprising Mrs. C. E. Harlan (chairman), Mrs. Freeman Kelley, Mrs. C. M. Turck and Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, have secured a distinguished array of talent and an exceptional program is offered.

The study sections, of which there are seven, will be in especially capable hands, as a glance at the following list will show: literary, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett; music, Mrs. Frank N. Arnold; art and travel, Mrs. C. M. Turck; Shakespeare, Mrs. Chas. Temple; parliamentary usage, Mrs. Harry Greenwalt; legislative, Dr. Jessie Russell; civics, Mrs. Ella Richardson.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell will be in charge of the war relief and recreation department, a new feature of this year's work. Other standing committees will be in charge of chairmen, as follows: ways and means, Mrs. E. D. Yard; courtesy, Mrs. H. F. Bertelsen; philanthropy, Mrs. Warren Roberts; local relief, Mrs. E. S. McKee; decoration, Mrs. J. Glenwood Jones; remembrance, Mrs. Freeman Kelley; printing, Mrs. Geo. Nash; publicity, Mrs. Harry Duffield; calling, Mrs. M. C. Patterson; auditing, Mrs. P. S. McNutt; hospitality, Mrs. G. H. Rowe; club properties, Mrs. O. O. Clark; parliamentarian, Mrs. W. E. Evans, federation secretary, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett; Juvenile Protective association, Mrs. John Robert White; historian, Mrs. Geo. Adams; general curator, Mrs. Blake Franklin.

As heretofore, the club will look to the wants of the needy in the community and, to meet the demands, Mrs. E. S. McKee, who will have charge of the distribution of supplies, is gleaning for future use. No less active are the other chairmen, and all signs point to a year of profit and helpfulness.

Every club member is eligible to attend all club and sectional meetings, and is entitled to six guest cards during the year, upon the payment of annual dues in the sum of $4.00, payable semi-annually. This rate, which is an increase of $1.00 over last year, will be effective in October. Attention is also called to the fact that after October 9th the entrance fee will be advanced from $3.00 to $5.00. It will be seen therefore that it is desirable for all women contemplating joining the club to have their applications in before that date. Application blanks may be secured from any club member, a supply being attached to the cover of last season's year book, or from the treasurer, Mrs. Stephen C. Packer, 1462 Riverdale drive, telephone Glendale 947W. All women of Glendale and vicinity are eligible to membership.

STEAL CAMPBELL CAR

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell had the unfortunate experience of having their automobile stolen while attending the Billy Sunday meeting Tuesday evening. They parked their car on Hope street between Tenth and Eleventh streets at 7:15 o'clock and on their return about 9:30, the car, a Buick six, No. 12053 was gone. The car was in first class condition and out of the many parked there seemed to attract the attention of the thieves.

A Hollywood man who parked his car on Eleventh near Christ Church, also had his car stolen.

Mr. Campbell immediately notified the police and the sheriff, but as yet has found no trace of his machine. Ample police protection has been promised, but Glendale people had better be careful where they park or auto thieves will reap a rich harvest.

THE HEADLIGHT QUESTION

Authentic reports come to us that automobile drivers whose machines have not had headlights properly adjusted are being arrested and fined for violating a state law. Mr. Butts of the Monarch Co., 421 South Brand boulevard, continues to do the adjusting free of charge on certain evenings of the week.

No store is "strong enough" to venture upon a campaign of half-adequate advertising.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1917

POILUS HOMEWARD JOURNEY BRIGHTENED BY AMERICAN WOMEN

A small army of American girls and women is being organized in France today to take the thorns from the poilus' path when they start to the rear or home for the rest after hard fighting in the front line trenches.

This, the French Government has told America, will strengthen the morale of the French people, and will be "one of the greatest services American women can render their Ally."

The work will cost between $100,000 and $200,000 a month. The Red Cross announced today that it has appropriated $700,000 to establish and maintain the work until the first of November.

Red Cross Commissioner, Grayson M. P. Murphy has cabled from the front that there are plenty of women from American homes now at the front to get the work started and that as he needs more of them he will cable his call for volunteers.

So great has been the actual fighting strain on the French people that they have had neither time nor money to make the path pleasant for its battling men between home and from rest stations in the rear to the mud and blood of the front line of defense.

The men come out of the trenches now filthy, weary, sometimes covered with vermin. They have no hot food when they get to the rear. Not even a place to take a bath, let alone a place to lie down and sleep at night. If they have to wait at a station overnight, they sleep on the platform, in adjoining fields, or any place they can find.

The Red Cross and its American women volunteers are establishing:

First, a series of canteen kitchens directly behind the lines from which retiring French troops will receive hot soup in Thermos bottles and perhaps other hot food.

Second, and further back, bath houses where the men can go and get cleaned up and into fresh clothing.

Third, and still further back, dormitories where the men can get a good night's rest before starting the long journey to home or the extreme rear for their furlough.

Major Murphy's cablegram concerning this work, said in part:

"Great assistance can be given the French army by co-operating in the organization of canteens, resting and sleeping quarters for men passing to and from the front.

"At points where trains must be changed ordinary station facilities are absolutely inadequate and men returning tired and dirty from the trenches wait many long hours and often over night for train connections and sleep on exposed platforms and in all available corners.

"Buffets are wanted beyond any possible capacity. These men averaging several thousand at each station daily should be provided with proper hot food at low prices, proper sleeping and reading rooms and given facilities for washing and disinfection from disease carrying trench vermin which otherwise would be brought into homes while men returning to the front would be given additional stimulus and enthusiasm through such special attention on the part of American women, all of which tends to develop better morals as well as physique.

"We believe no work more immediately important to safeguard the homes and the soldiers and to convince the country at large that we are working with them, and earnestly recommend an appropriation for the purpose.

The entire plan will be carried out in accordance with the views of General Pershing and the French army. We are working in close touch with the Young Men's Christian Association who are entirely in accord with our undertaking this work in certain definite districts.

COST OF HEALTH AND CLEANLINESS

As a whole, the counties of California spend less on health conservation and the promotion of sanitation and cleanliness than on any other one general item. Per individual, in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916, 3 cents and 8 mills constituted the expenditure for health conservation, while 1 cent and 3½ mills covered the expenditure for sanitation and promotion of cleanliness. In dollars, the actual amounts disbursed were: Conservation of Health, $102,682.17; Sanitation and Cleanliness, $36,985.20.

According to the reports submitted to the Controller, there were six counties that spent nothing on health officers. These are: Alpine, Del Norte, Orange, San Benito, Santa Barbara, Stanislaus. Three counties—Alpine, Del Norte and Orange—reported no expenditures whatever for health conservation.

Only 10 counties reported expenditures for sanitary inspection. These were: Amador, Contra Costa, Inyo, Los Angeles, Merced, Monterey, Nevada, San Juaquin, San Mateo and Tulare.

The following counties reported no expenditures for sanitation or promotion of cleanliness: Alameda, Alpine, Calaveras, Del Norte, El Dorado, Humboldt, Imperial, Lake, Lassen, Modoc, Mono, Orange, Plumas, Sacramento, San Diego, Santa Barbara, Sierra, Siskiyou, Sonoma, Stanislaus, Sutter, Trinity and Yuba.

The above facts are not to indicate, however, that the amount of public money spent for health and cleanliness is negligible. They mean that although county governments do not spend much, the disbursements of many of the cities are large, while the state government also spends large sums. Moreover, the laws place upon the citizen, in his individual capacity, a considerable part of the cost of public cleanliness.

IT WOULD HELP

"My dear, we can't afford to pay $90 a month rent."

"Of course we can't, my dear. I've thought of that. But there's a lovely garage on the back of the lot which we can surely rent for $5 a month, which will help a good deal.—Detroit Free Press.

PRESUMPTION RESENTED

WHY WE ARE AT WAR

We are a peaceful people. After the Civil war there was a universal hope that we should never go to war again; but Cuba lay at our doors, exploited, ill-treated, making her pathetic appeal to American chivalry and American justice, we regarded war as a lesser evil than a heart hardened to the suffering of others. Against that war neither Pacifists nor German Americans made objection; they had no Spanish sympathies.

The Spanish war was soon ended, and once more we hoped that America would never go to war again. But our hopes were too sanguine. A great country in the center of Europe had waxed wonderfully strong during forty years of peace. In 1870 Germany and France were equal in population and riches. In 1914, the German population was 70 millions, the French 38 millions; German commerce amounted to five billion of dollars, French Commerce to three; the German merchant marine was double that of France; German agricultural produce, wheat, rye, potatoes, in spite of an inferior soil, was 25 per cent to 50 per cent greater that the French. By peaceful means Germany was rapidly acquiring a very great, even a guiding influence in the world's affairs. The German government, however, remained a government of the warrior caste, bred upon the Prussian tradition that might makes right; at its head was an emperor, who declared that he ruled by divine right and that his army was the rock on which his empire was built. This great nation, and especially its intellectual leaders, became drunk with success and self-love; boastful and truculent, it pressed upon its neighbors, until the peace of Europe gave way at its weakest point. Germany thought she saw her way clear to dominate Europe, and, dragging Austria with her, dashed over Belgium, in order to deal knock out blows first to France and then to Russia.

We were astounded. We admired Germany, her music, her science, her scholarship, her universities and schools, her municipalities, her industry, skill and success. We could not believe that Germany was so utterly in the wrong as her enemies said. But little by little we were forced to believe it. First the allies published the story of their diplomatic efforts to prevent the war, but Germany never published her correspondence with Austria; then came report after report of murders, devastation and pillage in Belgium and France; then to involve us in war with Japan and Mexico.

Even these insults and injuries did not push us directly into war, but they opened our eyes, and we learned a lesson. That lesson was that Prussian, feudal, military government, with a kaiser by divine right at its head, will act in accordance followed, one after the other, lawless sinkings of American vessels, the torpedoing of the Lusitania, the drowning of American women and children, the intrigues and plots in this country, the insulting order that American ships should keep off a great part of the high seas, and finally the plan with its nature; that, in order to fulfill its ambition, it will burn and pillage cities, devastate fields and orchards, that it will order priests shot, women raped, laborers deported, that it will tear up treaties , sink innocent travelers by sea, and seek to cow nations into submission by terror. With such an imperial government, supported by the mightiest army that has ever existed, no democracy in the world is safe.

Slowly, reluctantly, we faced this alternative: either we must submit to the divine rights of an emperor who bids his soldiers act Huns, or we must fight for our own right to exist. So, slowly, reluctantly, we decided to fight.

If we cannot overthrow the Prussian military aristocracy and its emperor now, not only England, France, Italy and Russia, but the United States also must keep armed to the teeth; and with national military preparedness moulding our national life, reshaping our honored institutions, breaking down our old ideas, our democracy, as we hoped to see it, will be impossible. A military nation cannot be run by the methods of a town meeting, it must be run by despotic methods. We shall be obliged to economize and scrimp on schools, hospitals, asylums, playgrounds, institution of research, to refrain from all activities which, sprung from a sense of human brotherhood, make the lives of the mass of men more worth while to themselves and to others. Armories and arsenals will be the school houses for young men; ammunition plants will be their laboratories; rifle and bayonet drill will take the place of ball and boating.

For the sake of our children we must stop all wickedness and folly now. We must fight till the German government has passed out of the hands of the feudal aristocracy and their supporters, into the hands of the German people.

It was a clear understanding of the matters at issue and of the immense consequences to our future and to the future of the world that has ranged us at last side by side with England, France, Russia, Italy, Belgium and Serbia. May God defend the right. —Whittier News.

HER SELF SACRIFICE

"She's awfully self sacrificing."

"How do you make that out?"

"Well, she stayed at home from church Sunday to sit up with a sick woman."

"Huh! She isn't a regular churchgoer. I don't see anything self sacrificing in that."

"You don't? But, my dear, she had a new gown and a new hat that had just arrived Saturday night."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE REPEATER

Representative Campbell, of Kansas, said in a recent address in Leavenworth:

"The corrupt man is always a stupid, ignorant man.

"A corrupt voter was arrested once in Wama.

"'What am I arrested fur?' he asked.

"'You are charged,' said the officer, 'with having voted eight times.'

"'Charged, hey?' muttered the prisoner. 'That's queer. I expected to be paid for it.'"—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Yesterday forenoon an assembly was held, most of which was given over to the Explosion staff. Berna Martin, the new editor, had good news: the paper is to be but fifty cents this year. David Johnson, famous debater, spoke to the Scrubs concerning the paper and before he finished he had made a strong appeal to the hearts and pockets of every one of them. Frank Balthis, the great orator who showed what he could do in the oratorical contest last year, is to be the assistant editor. Frank gave a short talk, but owing to the fact that he was quite hoarse, his speech was not as long as it might have been. Milton Brown, who is the senior class president, is to be the sport editor. He says that the whole school will be enlivened by the sports as far as his section of the paper is able to do it. Miss Knepper and Mr. Root are to be the faculty critics of the paper this year. Miss Knepper was on the staff last year, but Mr. Root has been added. Mr. Root told what he was going to do this year to help the paper. He also explained how the paper is to be managed by the Student Body instead of having one person at the head of it, as it was last year.

Last but not least came Mr. Howe, who was called by Berna Martin the Billy Sunday of G. U. H. S. Although he did not ask the students to hit the sawdust trail, he gave a talk full of pep and enthusiasm, encouraging every one to earn his four bits to pay for the Explosion subscription.

Yesterday Miss Muller's class in interior decoration visited several of the large stores in Los Angeles, where they studied the beautiful work in the art and drapery departments. The class returned home late in the evening with new and artistic ideas in modern house furnishings.

Saturday Mr. Poore's chemistry class received an invitation to visit the Whittier-Fullerton oil fields. As it happened only two of the pupils could go, but Mr. Poore, Mr. Richardson, Hubert Woods and John Bender made a fine delegation. They were treated quite royally, as they were served with a fine dinner, after which they were shown over the plant and had many interesting things explained to them. It is hoped that other trips like these will be planned in the future, as they are very instructive to the students.

A SEVEN-PASSENGER TOURING CAR

A. P. Offutt, of 1102½ West Broadway, has become the owner of a brand new 7-passenger Hupmobile which he intends to use in taking out auto parties. This touring car has just been purchased from Geo. E. Clayton, the Glendale agent for the "Hup," and the car will be kept in first-class condition and will be driven by the owner, who will be always ready to give his patrons agreeable service. Mr. Offutt's phone number is Sunset 1488 and his place of residence is 1102½ West Broadway, but if you can not recall these numbers, just refer to his directory card on page two of every issue of the Evening News.

"PRIZE BEEFSTEAK"

But this is a vegetable beefsteak. In fact, a big "beefsteak tomato." It weighs 1½ pounds and was grown in the garden of Esther Lillian Jones, 417 South Jackson street, Glendale, who was "eleven last April."

Esther is an enthusiastic little gardener. She says this tomato, fresh and dewy-cold from the vines, is part of fifty pounds gathered this morning. She attends the Colorado boulevard school.

Now the Chamber of Commerce has two prizes from pupils of Miss Waite's fine school. The other is the poster, "Plant Gardens," designed, drawn and colored by 12-year old Violet Mock, of 528 South Louise street. It has been much admired, as the prize tomato certainly will be.

Miss Waite seems to inspire her pupils with practical patriotism, which is a good, reliable brand.

The public is invited to call at the Chamber of Commerce to see both these prizes. Also the very fine permanent exhibit.

PLAN CHRISTMAS PARTY

The British Ambulance Society held their regular working meeting at their headquarters on Monday afternoon. Besides accomplishing a good deal of work, the regular monthly business meeting was held.

The secretary and treasurer made their reports and showed satisfactory progress in all lines. Several new members have been added and more workers are needed and expected.

A request from Los Angeles headquarters to the Glendale Branch was presented by Mrs. England, asking the Glendale Chapter to take entire charge of the punch to be served at the Belgium fete to be given at the Los Angeles headquarters next week, the details of which will appear later. Donations of lemons, oranges and sugar are requested. Any one having the above articles to contribute notify Mrs. England, Glendale 947-R, or the secretary, Miss Ina Whitaker, Glendale 586-J.

It was decided to give a soldier's Christmas party the third week in October. This will be a repetition of the highly successful and interesting affair given a year ago, and the object is to send a Christmas present to the soldiers. Everyone is requested to bring a present, large or small, to "Tommie" or "Sammie," as the case may be.

Mrs. Gerald Blue was the hostess for the afternoon and served a dainty tea at Ye Ginger Tavern. She was assisted by Miss Eckles and Miss Dodd. One of the interesting incidents of the tea was the knitting of a well-known woman of Glendale, who demonstrated her versatility by her expertness along this line.

SATURDAY EVENING CONCERT

Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, supervisor of Music in Glendale Union High School, will have charge of the community concert to be given Saturday evening, corner Broadway and Louise. Mrs. Gibson has prepared the following program for Saturday evening:

"Battle Hymn of the Republic."
"Old Folks at Home."
Violin—Cecil Crandall.
"A Perfect Day."
"America, the Beautiful."
(The school children of Glendale)
Violin—Cecil Crandall.
"Auld Lang Syne."
"Good Night, Ladies."
"Star Spangled Banner."
Miss Mildred Pray, Pianist.

WILL PASS ON EXEMPTIONS

F. D. Lanterman of the Exemption Board of the Seventh District of Los Angeles county announces that the board will pass upon the exemption claims of the third draft of men on Thursday and Friday, September 20 and 21, at the Glendale headquarters, Chamber of Commerce Bldg., 1010 West Broadway.

MISS GRACE SAXE AGAIN

Tonight at First M. E. Church Miss Saxe of the Billy Sunday party, will conduct a popular Bible class, to which the general public is invited. Last week the attendance was above three hundred, and no doubt before the series of six studies are completed, the capacity of the house will be reached. In other cities the building is crowded each night. It will be so here. Let none fail to attend tonight at 7:45.

Why Do You Take The Risk?

An accident tomorrow might lose you your job; might prevent your completing the payments on your home; might make you give up your life insurance; might compel your wife to become the wage-earner; might deny your children the advantages they deserve. MRS. BRADLEY OF THE JUVENILE COURT WILL SPEAK

Mrs. John Robert White, 101 Orange street, will be hostess Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, September 21st, to the W. C. T. U. and their friends. Mrs. Bradley of the Juvenile Court will be the honored guest of the afternoon. She will give an address on the advantages of the Juvenile Court to wayward girls. All women, especially mothers, should hear this forceful address, which is so important just now on account of war conditions and surroundings, because of the lure of the Camps to our young girls. Everybody is most cordially invited.

ANSWERS CRITICISM

Editor Glendale Evening News.
Dear Sir:

To my bewildered amazement some few people have expressed their disapproval of my letter written about the boys on Dead Man's Island and have voiced their disapproval of my efforts on behalf of a "candy" and subsequently a "pie" day for the boys. They seem to think I am making little of the individual attentions paid the boys by loving relatives and friends, and that I am in some way slamming the government. Of course the boys are well looked after, both by their relatives and the government, and they are thoroughly enjoying the fine, wholesome life. But even though every boy may have a mother, is it belittling the mothers to further a public, popular movement by means of which our community love and admiration for the boys may be expressed?

Does Hollywood belittle the mothers and slam the government by having pie and candy days for their boys?

Do the military authorities themselves slam the government and belittle the mothers by endorsing collections of huge sums of money for the "Mess" of the men? Are the newspapers of this morning belittling and slamming by urging that the public donate a big fund with which to provide every soldier and sailor in training from Southern California with a Christmas present?

I know that the mothers of boys are loading them with attention, showering everything on their soldier sons. But I think it is perfectly wise and meritorious to give to mothers and sisters who have no relatives in training an opportunity of doing their bit along these lines.

I have also been reproved for asking for books and magazines. What then shall our censure be upon the great world leaders who are raising I think it is 15 million dollars to provide our boys in training with libraries?

The only answer I can make to these good friends who feel I have hurt their feelings is twofold: First, my only thought in life is to make others happy; Second, I hope that every single soul who reads this letter will immediately phone an order to their grocer or confectioner to send one or more pounds of the very best candy to the Chamber of Commerce before 10 to-morrow, Thursday, morning.

Yours truly,
NANNO WOODS.

BOYS AND GIRLS

The difference is apparent early. A boy has as much fun in stoning a cat as a girl has in hunting for violets. A boy's curiosity is directed to the ice box; a girl would like to see what is in the top bureau drawer.

A girl can give the impression when away from home that her parents are wealthy; a boy cannot.

A girl is never so young that she will reveal to guests at a party that the spoons are borrowed; a boy child never grows so old that he fails to.

Give a boy a dollar, and he will eat it; give his sister one, and she will wear it.

When brothers fight it is over the larger share of pie. When sisters quarrel one has worn something belonging to the other without asking permission.—Youth's Companion.

"The Romans had a strong sense of the beautiful," remarked the student. "Yes," replied Mrs. Mrs. McGudley; "but they wasn't practical. For instance, those Roman candles was very pretty to look at, but they wasn't much good to read by."—Washington Star.

A WOMAN DID IT

A lesson to landlords is this. A woman did it. She wanted the house papered. The landlord talked about the paper shortage and took his rent and went.

The next month when he called he found the house beautifully papered. He was pleased and said so. The woman smiled. She walked to the wall and moved a picture aside. Beneath the picture was a grimy square of the old paper. The woman had papered around every picture in the house. As she paid the month's rent she gave notice that she would move the next month.—Philadelphia American.

EVIDENCE REQUIRED

The editor of the local paper believed that he was doing a kindly act by suppressing from the list of "drunk and disorderly" on market day the name of a country subscriber that by rights belonged there. The subscriber, however, did not regard the omission as a favor.

"I suppressed your name for your wife's sake," the editor politely explained.

"Well, that's the awkward part of it," the farmer said, "for, not seeing my name among the rest, she won't believe I came to town at all."—New York Times.

YOUNG SHERLOCK

"Johnny, I married your father because he saved me from drowning."

"I'll bet that's why pop's always telling me not to go swimming."

AS PER CUSTOM

"I can't spare the money, but I'll gladly loan it to you if you'll promise not to keep it too long."

"I solemnly swear that I'll spend every penny of it before to-morrow morning!"

Mr. Peck—"Not exactly. Before we were married, when I displeased her she refused to speak to me."—Life.

HERE'S A MEAN PERSON

Some of the laundries are now charging for washing clothes at the rate of six cents a pound, and there are women in our town who must not have to pay more than nine cents a week to get their whole outfits done up.—Gary Times.

FIXING THE BLAME

A glue-factory stands near a certain railway. Its charms are not for the nose, and therefore a lady often carried with her a bottle of lavender salts. One morning an old farmer took the seat beside her. As the train neared the factory, the lady opened her bottle of salts.

Soon the whole car was filled with the horrible odor. The farmer put up with it as long as he could, then shouted, "Madam, would you mind puttin' the cork in that 'ere bottle?"—New York Tribune.

The lady had just been introduced to her partner at a holiday dance and was talking to him vivaciously. "Tell me," she said, "who is that terribly homely man over there?"

The gentleman looked. "That," he said ponderously, "is my brother."

"Oh!" gasped the lady in horrified amazement. "Pardon me. Really I hadn't noticed the resemblance."

FLATTERY

An editor, apropos of William Dean Howells's 80th birthday, said:

"Mr. Howells is as modest as he is gifted. His publisher once showed him a sketch for a prospectus that praised him warmly. Mr. Howells drew his pencil through certain overwarm adjectives, and said that they made him feel like the young widow.

"A young widow, he explained, had carved on her husband's tombstone when he died the inscription:

" 'Sacred to the memory of John Doe, who departed this life in the 57th year of his age, bitterly regretting he must leave the most beautiful and best of wives!'"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The excess of sentiment, which is misleading in philanthrophy and economics, grows acutely dangerous when it interferes with legislation, or with the ordinary rulings of morality. —Agnes Repplier.

ONE MAN SHOULDERED CAMP BURDEN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Suppose Uncle Sam stepped up to you on the street to-day and said:

"Look here, son; I want you to build me sixteen cities. Put them in various parts of the country. Plan each one for a population of 40,000 men. Have heating, lighting, water, ventilation and sewerage systems perfect in all of them. Finish them in three months. That's your job. Now go to it."

Would you know where to begin?

Would it excite you at all to realize that every mistake you made meant perhaps fatal delay in the training of your country's armies for the war?

That proposition was put up to one man by Uncle Sam. He and his colleagues shouldered the burden and did the job.

The man was Major W. A. Starrett, before the war an architect, now Chairman of the Committee on Emergency Construction and Contracts of the Council of National Defense.

No such task had ever been undertaken on a nationwide scale in that space of time.

"When this thing was first contemplated," Major Starrett told the United Press to-day, "the government provided a couple of army officers and stenographers to do the job."

"Word had gone out that the work was going on and every contractor in the country was here. As a result, all those men did was to stand in front of the desk and shake hands all day.

"We told the Munitions Board these people would have to be taken out and that the cantonment men would have to be left alone.

"Accordingly, the next morning the men were brought to the Munsey building with their records. We immediately saw the need for the finest men we could get, so we reached into the big engineering organizations all over the country by wire and telephone.

"We asked them to send big men. We got big men. I could name you a list of twenty-five men we got who were worth $15,000 to $25,000 a year.

"We said to those concerns: 'You will have to give these people up; we face an emergency. They patriotically gave them up.

"Then and there, over about two days and nights solid conference work with all these people, we built a great organization under Colonel Little of the War Department.

"Inside of four days we had the organization in skeleton. Everything was worked out with the object of speed and economy. That machine constitutes about 250 people occupying a whole building and working anywhere from 12 to 18 hours a day. We looked around to see what the Government had in the way of a register of contractors. It did not have anything for us. We asked the American Institute of Architects, the chief engineers of all the railroads and big industrial establishments, who the reliable people were they had been dealing with. In ten days we had 1,800 replies, giving us a list of about 1000 contracting firms. We put the list in charge of Mr. Gibbon of the Chicago Fidelity and Guaranty Co. He determined what contractors throughout the country were doing $5,000,000 a year business. There were about 100. These we separated and cross-referenced them geographically. This gave us sixty or seventy concerns based on their proximity to the sixteen military divisions of the country. We considered our preferred contractors by these geographical groups. We got what the architects and engineers said about each man, and what each man said about himself and what others said about him. Thus when we came to the selection we had the available, competent firms and their respective records before us.

"The applicants really selected themselves.

"Secretary Baker sent us a communication saying all things being equal to pick the contractors from the locality in which the camp was to be located. That was common sense. We were in a position to do what he suggested."

"You feel then," it was asked, "that everything humanly possible was done to safeguard the interest of both the government and the public in the selection of these contractors?"

"Yes, I do," said Major Starrett. "It is just like any other emergency work. You have to know as many facts as you can and be as just as you can, but you have to move and do something."

SETTING THINGS RIGHT

The lady who likes children was gushing over Helen, aged three.

"How old are you, darling?" she asked.

"I isn't old," said Helen. "I'm nearly new."

The lesson in natural history had been about the rhinoceros, and the teacher wanted to know how well the lesson had been learned. "Now, name something," she said, "that is very dangerous to get near to, and that has horns."

"I know, teacher, I know!" called little Annie Jones.

"Well, Annie, what is it?"

"An automobile."

ABOUT VACATIONS

If Mr. Edison ever took a vacation he would doubtless spend it in inventing a universal vacation machine.

A vacation is a time for meditation between two rent-days.

Emperor William will spend his vacation trap-shooting Doves of Peace.

The poor just "knock off," the middle classes "take a vacation," while the smart set "summers."

To enjoy your vacation take your business with you; it will prevent the time from hanging heavy on your hands.

Constantine, late of Greece, will spend his vacation writing a book on "The Deportment of Retirement."

If you go to the mountains, observe the scenery; if to the ocean, observe the water—these are often overlooked.

Don't rush to the edge of the board walk every time the cry of "submarine is raised; it may only be a fat pacifist beyond his depth.—Benjamin De Casseres.

AVOIDING THE RUSH

"Why do you have this sign 'Walk in' on your door?" asked the summer visitor of the young physician who had lately hung out his shingle in the village.

"That," said the doctor, "is so that people who come on the run will not rush in and upset the nerves of patients who are ahead of them."

A SUGGESTIVE HINT

A certain eminent lawyer was appointed head of a government department, and he was anxious that all the members of the staff should work together in unison. He summoned the leading officials and after delivering an address on the desirability of thorough co-operation, concluded by saying: "Gentlemen, in my profesion when a jury disagrees it is discharged. I think I need say no more."—London Mail.

This seems to be a very dangerous precipice," remarked the tourist. "I wonder that they have not put up a warning-board!"

"Yes," answered the guide, "it is dangerous. They kept a warning-board up for two years, but no one fell over, so it was taken down."—Exchange.

LUMBERJACK REGIMENT

The regiment of lumbermen, officially known as the 10th Engineers (Forest) and nicknamed the "lumberjack regiment," has been recruited to full strength, and the Forest Service, which has been recruiting the men, has been notified by the War Department to enlist no more candidates for service with this regiment. In anticipation, however, of a possible call soon for another regiment of the same character, the listing officers all over the country have been instructed to continue listing names of suitable men who may be summoned when needed.

The "lumberjack regiment" is not fighting force, but will be employed in woods operations in France, getting out material for army use. The recruits are now being assembled in Washington, where they are drilled daily by the officers assigned to command them. Colonel Woodruff of the regular army, who will head the regiment, is in charge and with the assistance of a staff made up of practical lumbermen and foresters is providing an equipment of the most up-to-date character for the type of woods operations called for, in the list of the experience of the Allies. The regiment will take with it both stationary and portable sawmills with everything necessary for logging and sawmill work and for transporting the prduct.

"Use perishable food and help win the war," say the food bulletins coming out of Washington. Of course the grass is going to wither and decay and the next thing we know those impractical people down there will be advising us to eat it in order to save it. This would be just about as sensible as some of the other advice they are handing out.

Co-operation in all kinds of business and work is what leads to general business success. There is nothing better for a city than community co-operation. Keep money in the community so far as possible.

HOLE IN GERMANY'S POCKET

"Germany's claim that she imports nothing, buys only of herself, and so is growing rich from the war, is a dreadful fallacy."

The speaker was Herbert C. Hoover, chairman of the American Food Board.

"Germany," he went on to, "is like the young man who wisely thought he'd grow his own garden-stuff. This young man had been digging for about an hour when his spade turned up a quarter. Ten minutes later he found another quarter. Then he found a dime. Then he found a quarter again.

" 'By gosh,' he said, 'I've struck a silver-mine,' and, straightening up, he felt something cold slide down his leg. Another quarter lay at his feet. He grasped the truth: There was a hole in his pocket."—Washington Star.
